

Do you want to work in the Netherlands?

URK WERKT
Partner van WSP Flevoland

Are you from the Ukraine? As of April the 1st you are allowed to work in the Netherlands without a work permit if you qualify for the 'Temporary Protection Directive'.

What you need to do first

- As of April the 1st you are allowed to work in the Netherlands without a work permit if you qualify for the 'Temporary Protection Directive'.
- You can already work with your own documents, with which you can prove that you are covered by the 'Temporary Protection Directive'.
- Your future employer must offer you an employment contract before you are allowed to work.
- Your future employer will register you with the Employees Insurance (UWV). UWV registers that you work for your employer and provides the employee insurance. From there, your employer will be informed about the rules that apply when offering work to you as a Ukrainian refugee.
- Before you can start working, you need a health insurance.
- Report to the municipality of Urk on which date you will start working for your employer, because from the next following month your living allowance will be stopped.
